

Research on the Necessity and Implementation Measures of the Classics of Party History in the Ideological and Political Classes in Colleges and Universities

Weizhe Li

(School of Marxism, Beijing Information Science and Technology University, Beijing 100192, China)

Abstract: The classics are those original and foundational works. The classics are national treasures that have undergone historical precipitation and practical testing. The classics condense the wisdom and beautiful emotions of a nation. During the centuries of development and struggle of the Communist Party of China, they have produced many classic works chapters. The ideological and political courses in colleges and universities carry the important task of our party and the country to build morals and cultivate people's ideological and political literacy. The party has been founded for a century, learns the history of the party, understands the advanced experience and theories of the party in history, and makes the ideological and political courses in colleges more effective. Sexuality should have a carrier and grasp, and the classic chapters of the party's exploration experience and wisdom should be placed in an important position in the party's development process. It is necessary for the classic chapters of party history to enter the ideological and political classrooms of colleges and universities.

Keywords: Classic texts of party history; Entry into college ideological and political classrooms; Necessity

DOI: 10.12346/fhe.v3i2.3981

Author Introduction: Li Weizhe (1978-) female, from Dingzhou, Hebei, PhD, lecturer, School of Marxism, Beijing Information Technology University, mainly engaged in ideological and political education research.

1. Introduction

Classics are the condensation and carrier of a nation's wisdom and beautiful emotions. They are the basis for a steady stream of wisdom that has undergone long-term testing. Classics are exemplary and authoritative. Over the past 100 years since the founding of the Communist Party of China, the Chinese people have led the Chinese people to stand up, become rich, and move toward a stronger future. In this century of struggle and growth of the Communist Party of China, our party has been studying the classic scientific theories of Marxism, such as Marx and Engels, while condensing and condensing scientific theories with Chinese characteristics in combination with the Chinese revolution and construction. A classic chapter of party history that solves China's practical problems and promotes China's continuous development. Using the party's history to guide the direction and educate people is an important mission of the Chinese Communist Party's ideological and political work, and it is also a practical need to promote the development of various undertakings of the party and the country.

2. Party History Education Needs to Learn the Original Classic Works

During the centuries of development and struggle of the Communist Party of China, many classic works have been produced. Liu Shaowei listed many classic chapters of the party since its founding in the book "Leading Cadres Reading the Classics of Party History". For example, in the first chapter, he talked about the "ghost" of rewriting Chinese history-"Chinese society of all classes" "Analysis", it is the Chinese Communists represented by Mao Zedong. On the basis of studying the great chapter of Marx and Engels, "The Communist Manifesto", using the basic principles of Marxist class analysis, he correctly analyzed the current class status of Chinese society at that time, and is guided by this classic chapter. Next, the Chinese Communists clearly judged the particularity of the Chinese social revolution, and creatively realized that the Chinese Communist Party must first carry out a new democratic revolution on the land of China. The basic ideas of the new democratic revolution have initially formed, and they recognize the characteristics of the Chinese revolution. The main force was the peasants, who accounted for the vast majority of China at that time, and laid the scientific and theoretical foundation for the Chinese revolutionary road—the countryside surrounded the city. In the course of the development of the Communist Party of China, there are many chapters of such classic works. Only by going deep into the classics can we truly appreciate and understand the choices of the Chinese Communists, truly master the wisdom of the Chinese Communists in revolution and construction, and give our party valuable experience. It is truly inherited and has a long history.

Our party has always attached great importance to ideological and political education, and the study of party history is an important part of ideological and political education. Ideological and political courses in colleges and universities have always been an important town of ideological and political education, and they carry the important mission of morality and cultivation of college students. After the founding of the People's Republic of China, our party included "Chinese Revolutionary Common Knowledge" and "Common Program" in the middle school teaching plan, and offered courses such as "Chinese Revolution History" and "Marxist-Leninist Basics" in colleges and universities. Marxism-Leninism and Mao Zedong Thought arm the youth to train strong revolutionary successors. After the reform and opening up, our party clearly proposed that "Marxist-Leninist theory courses are required courses in all types of socialist colleges and universities."^[1] Through these years of experience, we can see that the country attaches great importance to ideological and political courses and continuously promotes its innovation. Looking back at the history of the Communist Party of China in developing ideological and political work and building ideological and political courses, it can be clearly seen that ideological and political courses are in the process of cultivating young students to become talents, establishing correct views of the country, political parties, and values, and becoming the successors of the socialist revolution and construction. Important responsibilities.

As an important content of ideological and political education, party history education is an important topic in ideological and political education. On the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Communist Party of China, the Ministry of Education and other eight departments jointly issued the "Opinions on Accelerating the Construction of Ideological and Political Work System in Colleges and Universities", which requires the "Four History" education to be more comprehensively and specifically integrated into the curriculum system of ideological and political theory in colleges and universities. And the teaching system. Learn the history of the party, comprehend the party's revolution, construction theories, methods, and practical experience to make college ideological and political courses more effective. There should be a carrier and grasp. The party's development process carries the classics of the party's exploratory experience and wisdom. The chapters of works should be placed in an important position, and it is necessary for the classics of party history to enter the ideological and political classroom.

3. The Important Value of the Classic Chapters of Party History

Ever-changing is inseparable from its classics—reading the classics of party history to know the past and mirror the present

The history of the party is the history of the Chinese Communists leading the Chinese people to continuously implement and sinicize Marxism. It is a history of the Chinese Communists leading the Chinese people to condense Chinese wisdom and condense the Chinese civilization to continuously carry out theoretical innovation and practical exploration. The history of the party has demonstrated its scientific, advanced, and civilized nature everywhere. The condensing of the essence of party history has been refined and recorded in the chapters of his classic works by the Chinese Communists who came step by step. General Secretary Xi Jinping attaches great importance to the study of party history. He has repeatedly emphasized that studying history can be wise and reasonable. Only by studying party history seriously and using history as a mirror can we move forward better. When presiding over the collective study of the Politburo of the CPC Central Committee, the General Secretary repeatedly talked about "Although history is something that happened in the past, it will always appear in people's lives in one way or another" and "to govern the country and society today. Many things encountered can be found in history, and many things that have happened in history can also be used as mirrors of today."^[2] Emphasis on drawing experience and lessons from the party's development history, emphasizing that every party member should "not forget the original aspiration and keep in mind the mission."

A nation that forgets history is a nation without hope, and a nation that forgets history is also a nation without a future. History carries the wisdom and experience of our ancestors in building a country and seeking a happy life. The development of affairs is the development of long-term precipitation in history. There will be problems of this kind in the development, and the answers to many problems can be found in historical experience. Our party's century-old history is very rich. It has both a history of revolution in line with China's national conditions and a history of reform and development in line with China's social development. These rich experiences and theories have been passed down and recorded in the chapters of Chinese Marxist classics, so we It is necessary to read the classics continuously, learn useful experience from the classics, and help fill tiles for the realization of socialist modernization.

Reading the classics and enlightening wisdom-reading the classics of party history can grasp the laws and understand ideas For contemporary college students, it is far from enough to know the history of the party's development and the various stages the party has led the Chinese people through the past century. Contemporary college students should truly enter Marxism, understand and love Marxism, and establish a real Marxist faith, inherit the uncompetitive undertakings of Marx and Engels and other great proletarians, and be a staunch supporter and successor of the cause of communism. In the past two years, with the complexity of the international situation and the twists and turns of the world epidemic, there have been individual college students who have deviated from Marxist beliefs and the cause of socialist construction, such as Xu Xiuzhong, Xu Xin, Ji Ziyue, and Mai Wend-ing. Wait. The current situation of these college students' ideological deviations reflects the urgency of "entering the brain" and "entering the heart" of ideological and political teaching in colleges and universities. Ideological and political courses in colleges and universities must achieve the task of establishing morality and fostering people, so that contemporary college students can become true Marxist believers. In the teaching process, they must overcome the problems of "learning to use two skins" and "fragmentation", and overcome ideological and political courses. The problem of ungrounded teaching content. Reading the original classic works allows students to experience the pulse of the development of the times and the various problems encountered in the development of the times. During the reading, they will talk to the predecessors and learn the thinking and wisdom of the predecessors. , In the study, truly understand how the Chinese Communist Party leads the people to stand up, get rich and strong, and understand the reasons why Marxism is still alive in contemporary China, and recognize and firmly believe that the Chinese Communist Party will lead the Chinese people to achieve the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. To realize the modernization of socialism with Chinese characteristics, we can strengthen the "four self-confidences" in learning, support the leadership of the party, and strengthen the "four consciousnesses."

4. Ideological and Political Teaching Cannot Avoid the Theme of "Serving the People". It is the Purpose of Our Party to Serve the People Wholeheartedly.

Whether our contemporary college students can establish and practice the belief of "serving the people" is of great significance to our country. The centuries-long history of our party has fully proved that only by loving the people, relying on the people, and for the people can our country have the motivation and hope to go further, and that the socialist country can remain invincible and rely solely on the mouth of the class. There is a lack of touching power to hear from the ears. The original famous classics are the real proof and recorder of serving the people. These classics not only have the inherent power of faith to serve the people, but also do not lack the support of rational wisdom. Read The classic masterpieces allow college students to touch the local spirit of serving the people, and make serving the people a reality, rather than unattainable. The ones that are grounded are the easiest to impress people, the easiest for people to understand and believe, and the easiest to be used for reference. And carry forward. College students often listen to serve the people, but don't know where to start. The original classics provide methods and paths that can be used for reference. Reading classic chapters in party history can grasp the laws of revolution and construction, open up the wisdom of construction, and serve better. Carry out socialist modernization and keep track of the pulse and direction.

Measures to enter the ideological and political classroom of the classics of party history 1. Strengthen the foundation of party history talents and strengthen the cultivation of teaching and research teachers. Teachers are the backbone of advancing party history education into ideological and political classrooms. In particular, the construction of the teaching and research team of ideological and political teachers in colleges and universities has far-reaching and significant significance. At present, the construction of the teaching and research team urgently needs to strengthen the construction of the teaching team. At present, the current degree of party history in my country has a limited number of doctoral students graduating each year, which is far from meeting the needs of the existing talent gap. Some graduates no longer engage in party history teaching and research after leaving the school, resulting in the current party history major. There are not many outstanding talents and the new force is not strong. The shrinking of the history teaching and research team has become a major bottleneck restricting the development of party history education. Faced with the severe situation, we must focus on strengthening the construction of the party history teaching and research team and expanding the party history teaching and research team.

First, at the construction level of the Central Horse Project, it is possible to expand the enrollment scale of the CCP history major in the "Marxist Key Talents Training Plan", and use the country's highest academic platform and strongest faculty to drive talent training and cultivate party history. The talent plan should read classic works as an important content.

Second, encourage universities and colleges with strong scientific research capabilities and conditions to actively develop doctoral-level graduate education, explore the development path of the Central Party History and Documentation Research Institute in the national education sequence of graduate education, and give full play to its resources and scientific research advantages, cultivate more high-level talents.

Third, expand the team of post-doctoral researchers, appropriately increase the number of students enrolled in the direction of the history of the Communist Party of China, increase support for project application, visit learning, etc., and encourage outstanding talents to come to the fore. Through the above-mentioned efforts, a party history teaching and research team with a strong professional level has been gradually formed. Since the 19th National Congress of the Communist Party of China, General Secretary Xi Jinping has put forward the important statement that "the moment of governing the party and governing the party cannot be slackened" and that "green water and green mountains are the golden mountains and silver mountains" focusing on ecological civilization. Important thesis. The chapters of historical classics are historical treasures, which carry the original intention and belief of our party, and the wisdom of our party in building the country. For a better tomorrow, it is imperative for the classics of party history to enter the university ideological and political classroom.

Implementation basis: standardize and condense discipline positioning To achieve long-term development of party history education in colleges and universities, it is necessary to solve the problem of the carrier of education, that is, what to rely on for party history education. The construction of the carrier must follow the discipline and teaching development law, and constantly build the foundation of party history education. Party history education must clearly explain the "four choices" and their inherent logical relationships. The history of the Communist Party of China is a product of the great historical practice of the Communist Party of China. It focuses on China's unique epochal topics --- the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation, with unique research objects of China --- the Communist Party of China, with theories with Chinese characteristics Resources-Marxism and the theoretical results of its sinicization.

History is the best teacher. A century of party history contains rich wisdom and strength. The important content of college ideological and political teaching is to allow college students to understand, analyze the wisdom of society, and establish ideals and beliefs for the people and society. In the classics of party history, it is the ancestors who combined the basic principles of Marxism with the reality of Chinese society and condensed their practical wisdom in solving Chinese problems. Reading classics of party history can inspire the wisdom of college students, strengthen their character, and strengthen their beliefs.

Party history education should rely on this and make it clear why history and the people have chosen Marxism, the Chinese Communist Party, socialism, and reform and opening up. We must place the party's history in the logical evolution of modern China's development, start with the dynamic development of each choice, clarify the panorama and original appearance of the choice, and see that "each choice" is not completed all at once. Repeatedly and tortuously, clarify the gradual advancement and contextual continuity of the "four choices"; rational use of historical materials to enhance the depth and breadth of classroom teaching, excavate historical materials related to students' professional background to explain the teaching objectives of the course, and expand classroom teaching His vision reflects the charm of the "Party History" class and shows its unique appeal.

Combining the history with local characteristics, integrating into the classics of party history, and innovating the teaching content Reading the classics is not conservative. Reading the classics of party history, we must innovate in the true learning, carry forward the past and open the future, and in the long-term study, the wisdom of the classics will be internalized in the heart and externalized in the practice. Under the guidance of the truth, the majestic and mighty force that inspires a new journey, and strives hard for the realization of socialist modernization. Looking back 100 years ago, the October Revolution brought Marxism into China. Li Dazhao wrote "My View on Marxism" to introduce Marxism to the vast number of Chinese youth and patriotic intellectuals. Then Chen Wangdao translated the Marxist classic "Communist Manifesto", and since then, under the guidance of Marxism, Chinese proletarian activists have completed the glorious mission of building the party on the Nanhu Red Boat in Shanghai and Jiaying. Combining the history of local characteristics, colleges and universities can carry out the study, reading and discussion of corresponding classic works, so that students can understand the party's history more closely, and let the wisdom of the classics take root.

The history of the party is everywhere, and each place has its own local party history. All colleges and universities should give full play to the main role of colleges and universities, dig deeper and flexibly use the rich local red resources, and combine classic works and chapters to conduct practical education, develop party history learning and education implementation programs with local characteristics, and enrich party history learning Educational materials. In addition, by guiding students to carry out interactive and experiential learning, tell stories about "party history", and promote the learning and education of party history to become more popular.

Grasp the characteristics of young students and innovate educational carriers. At present, the rapid development of the Internet has made the forms of media increasingly diversified, and the cultural life of the majority of young students has become increasingly colorful. Colleges and universities should actively explore new methods of learning party history, be close to the lives of young students, and use the educational media that young students love to see and integrate classic texts of party history into new media, such as making micro-films of the problems to be solved in classic texts. Or documentary, where the original sentences of important ideas are added to the video; for example, the classic works are made into audio videos, such as the practice of "Classic Odes" programs.

5. Concluding Remarks

Learn the story of a century of party history and relive the history of a century of struggle. A century of party history can allow young students to learn profound nourishment from it, establish correct historical outlooks and values, and achieve "learning history to be clear, learning history to increase credit, learning history to respect morals, and learning history to practice" can guide the youth to not forget history and not forget their original intentions. To establish a tenacious driving force for the motherland and people's sincere dedication. The study of a century of party history is not simply copying past experience. The study of a century of party history is to focus on the future. The study of a century of party history is to construct young people in the new era. Learning from great men is the core of learning. The chapters of classic works are the carrier of the wisdom of great men. Learning party history and reading classics are the only way to go. Therefore, it is necessary for the classics of party history to enter the ideological and political classroom.

Funding

This department promotes the development of the classification of colleges and universities-teaching reform-the research results of the teaching reform of the ideological and political theory course of the School of Marxism (5112110863), and the research results of the higher education research project (2019GJYB12) of Beijing University of Information Technology in 2019.

References

- [1] Talk about the Tao, Learning and Skills of the "Big Ideological and Political Course" [N]. Guangming Daily (Guangming Youth Forum), 2021-5-28 (11).
- [2] During the 18th collective study session of the Politburo of the CPC Central Committee, Xi Jinping emphasized: Keeping in mind historical experience, historical lessons, and historical warnings provide a useful reference for the modernization of national governance capabilities [N]. People's Daily, 2014-10-14 (1).
- [3] Arm the whole party with the latest achievements of the Sinicization of Marxism [N]. Li Xiaolan. Guizhou Political Consultative Conference News. 2020-11-12 (003).
- [4] The latest achievements of the Sinicization of Marxism shining with the light of truth [N]. Guo Zhaobin. Chongqing Daily. 2020-08-20 (009).
- [5] Learn to understand well and make good use of Marxist house-keeping skills [N]. Fei Qiang. Chuzhou Daily. 2020-09-07 (006).
- [6] Be a firm learner, disseminator, and practitioner of Marxism [N]. Su Zhijun. Meizhou Daily. 2020-09-21 (B02).
- [7] The latest achievements of the Sinicization of Marxism [N]. Hao Junjie, Liu Jianfeng, Dong Zhen. Tibet Daily (Chinese). 2020-10-19 (006).
- [8] Give full play to the unique advantages of the party school in the theme education, strengthen the research and arming of Marxist theory [N]. Wang Yuling. Harbin Daily. 2019-08-06 (005).